

Subscribe to our email list

Share this: Twitter Facebook LinkedIn

Accidentallocavore®

Dear Friend,

With a stocked pantry and too much crappy weather, it's time for some cooking projects that take time (but not steady effort). See how I've been distracting myself.

Why don't you invite your friends to sign up for the newsletter? Or you can click the icons above the logo to send to a friend, Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Enjoy!

Anne

Amazing 4-Hour Baguettes!

If you're looking for something to do this President's Day, here's a 4-hour project with a delicious result! Sometimes the Accidental Locavore comes across a recipe that just looks unbelievable enough (this can't work, or taste good) to make me want to try it. Such was the case with the 4-hour baguette recipe I found on the Food52 website. Since I'm not a baker, especially of bread, this was even more laughable, but one Sunday I threw down the flour and yeast and went to work. Read more:

This Beef Chili Recipe Makes a Spicy Bowl of Red

Although the Accidental Locavore is no football fan, sometimes events like the Super Bowl are a good excuse to play with recipes like chili and guacamole. Since we had beef chuck and all the chiles, I thought I'd give this a shot. Don't let the list of ingredients scare you – it's easy prep. Makes a big pot of chili.. Get the Recipe:

February Calendar

What better time for a mug of hot chocolate? And here's the super-easy recipe.

Download the Calendar.

France Today

If you missed the Raclette piece, check it out on France Today's website.

PO Box 1289 | Pleasant Valley, NY 12569-1289 US

