Dear Friend,

Looking for an unusual (and delicious) gift for Mother's Day or graduation? How about some handpainted cookies?

Roasted artichokes sounded like a great idea...

Big honor last week! I was named The Daily Meal's Blogger of the Week! Check it out here.

Asparagus always means spring and these white ones make a beautiful May calendar for your desktop.

Speaking of May, I'm going to be posting blogs only once a week so I can focus on a new venture, Hudson Valley Eats. Check it out and if you're on Facebook etc. please "like" it. We're taking on the food scene in the Hudson Valley--restaurants, distilleries, markets, farms, all of it.

Wouldn't your food loving friends like to get a treat every Tuesday? Forward this to them and they can sign up for the newsletter. Or click the icons above to send to a friend, share on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Enjoy!

Anne

K's Mini Cookies: Edible Art

Cookies as beautiful hand-painted tiny works of art. Bunnies, chicks, ducks all looking like spring.

I had tasted a couple of K's mini cookies before we started the Accidental Locavore's radio show recently, and they were delicious! Butter and sugar, the perfect sugar cookie.

Roasted Artichokes

Artichokes are one of my favorite vegetables! I could eat them all the time and in any preparation.

When I saw this recipe in Saveur for roasted artichokes, it seemed like an easy way to fix them—just roast them for a while and enjoy.

May Calendar

Asparagus comes in many colors, and is always a sign of spring!

If you've ever wondered how food products get on the store shelves, check out my interview with Jonathon of Titan Management, a food consulting service. He's going to tell us the path products have to take.

Next Monday, we're speaking with Adam Lazar who makes Asarasi: water from harvested from trees. Fascinating and delicious!

Tune in at 5:00 EDT Mondays- www.pawlingpublicradio.org or listen anytime on our homepage.
