

Accidentallocavore®

Dear Friend,

Keeping with the holiday theme, a look at an Italian specialty--panettone and re-running an old favorite, but wonderful dessert recipe. There is a new January calendar, so check it out below.

I'm escaping New York for the month of January and hanging out in Nice, France. Not sure how often I'm going to be posting things, but I'll keep you in the loop. If you know anyone or anywhere I should check out while I'm there, please let me know!

Why don't you make a resolution to spread the word and get your friends to sign up? Or you can click the icons above or below to send to a friend, share on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Happy New Year!

Anne

Share

Italian Holiday Goodies

'Twas the week before Christmas and the Accidental Locavore received a great box of Italian treats, all of which were things I'd actually never tasted before. They were from Emporio Rulli in California and included a good-looking Panattone and a package of Cialde wafers. Read More:

Recipe for Warm Melting Chocolate Cakes

Figuring you might be looking for an easy dessert for the holidays, the Accidental Locavore would like to propose this old favorite. It's a really easy, incredibly good, molten chocolate cake recipe. I originally saw it done on Martha Stewart years ago, and have been making it ever since to rave reviews.

Get the recipe:

January Calendar

A melange of bread, lemon, shallots and thyme, add chicken and you've got a great dinner with only one pan to clean up.

Download the Calendar:

Calendar

add contact information here

PO Box 1289 | Pleasant Valley, NY 12569-1289 US

