Dear Friend,

Sometimes you just need some straight-up spaghetti and meatballs. This recipe from a classic NYC restaurant, has an interesting ingredient--check it out. If you need some ideas for foodie tested gifts, the post below has my kitchen tested picks.

As always, I'd love it if you could spread the word and get your friends to sign up! Or you can click the icons above or below to send to a friend, share on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Enjoy!

A Christmas List for You (Stuff I Have That You Might Want)

In lieu of the usual list of stuff the Accidental Locavore would like to play with, this year I decided to make a list of things – books, gadgets, appliances – that I have and keep going back to. As I write this, I realize that a lot of it, most of it in fact, was given to me, so in the spirit of giving back, here's my list for you: Read More:

Classic Meatballs

Every now and then you need a meatball fix. While the Accidental Locavore loves them in almost every size and configuration, every now and then you just want classic spaghetti and meatballs. I figured that this recipe on the Food52 site from Rao's had to be pretty much the standard. It makes about 24 meatballs. Get the recipe:

Museum of Feelings Update

If you decide to step out of your comfort zone and get down with your feelings, give yourself plenty of time (and something to read). Glade has a big hit on their hands and lines can last up to 3 hours on weekends. Read more:
