

Accidentallocavore®

Dear Friend,

Do you crave chocolate when it gets cold? Then you'll want to check out my brownie taste test. And speaking of craving, here's a recipe for tomatoes that takes advantage of less-than-perfect tomatoes. Not sure if it will get you through the winter, but give it a try.

As always, I'd love it if you could spread the word and get your friends to sign up! Or you can click the icons above or below to send to a friend, share on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Enjoy!

Anne

Share

The Great Brownie Showdown! And the Best is...

Since the Accidental Locavore's pig roast, a brownie taste-test has been on my to-do list. One of the winning dishes was the brownies our friend Joe made and several people were clamoring for the recipe. His secret? Betty Crocker's Ultimate Brownie Mix! We were stunned and I vowed to put it to the test against my favorites from Tom's Heritage

Baked Goods at the Milan Farmers' Market. Read more:

50 MPH Tomatoes-Good Year Round!

Knowing that these are one of my husband's favorite appetizers at Cafe Miranda, being the proud owner of their cookbook, Adventures in Comfort Food, and having a big bowlful of tomatoes, the Accidental Locavore needed to take this recipe for a test drive. Luckily, this actually works better on less-than-perfect tomatoes, so go for it! Serves 2 as a large appetizer or side dish: Get the recipe:

November Calendar

What's more fall than pumpkin pie? Download the calendar or just click on the photo and use it as your desktop background.

Download the Calendar:

Calendar