Accidentallocavore®

Dear Friend,

How about a savory cake? This cauliflower one is cute and delicious! Is there anything better than warm bread? Another piece on France Today's website, the Kickstarter campaign for some great new lids from GIF along the November calendar.

Why don't you invite your friends to sign up for the newsletter? My goal is to double the readership, so if everyone reading this can get a friend to sign up...Or you can click the icons above the logo to send to a friend, Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.

Enjoy!

Happiness is a Warm Baguette

Can we all agree that there's nothing better than bread fresh from the oven? And if that bread is one of New York's finest baguettes, fresh out of a very 21st century oven on a dark, blustery November evening, the night the clocks got turned back, the Accidental Locavore thinks it might be possible to survive until spring.

Ottolenghi's Cauliflower Cake

The Accidental Locavore is probably in a small minority that doesn't swoon every time there's a new Ottolenghi book. Not that I don't own most of them, it's just that I often find there's something in the recipes that makes me think--really? However, what I've seen of his new book, Plenty More, is starting to make me a believer. Case in point, the cauliflower cake, which hit some of the big food sites last Friday.

GIR Lids on Kickstarter

I was luck enough to get a set of these in my favorite red to test out, and love them! There are six other colors available if red's not your thing. Click here to back them and get your holiday shopping done before Halloween. Because they've already made their goals, there are added goodies if you help them make their "stretch" goals. That's a treat!

Doesn't this cauliflower cake put a smile on your face? Recipe next week.
